DARE TO COMPARE: butylated hydroxyanisole

- Butylated Hydroxyanisole, widely known as BHA, is a preservative used to extend the shelf life of foods.
- BHA is in products like cereal, potato chips, baked goods, beer and more.
- BHA is also a popular ingredient in rubber, petroleum products, and wax food packaging.
- BHA has a long, scary list of side effects you definitely want to avoid. That's why we boot BHA and other harmful preservatives from our shelves.
